OUR HISTORY

Our journey in wooden handicrafts is not new—it is hereditary. It is waving its flag from last more than 50 years . For generations, our family has been engaged in the art of handcrafting wood, passing down skills, techniques, and respect for craftsmanship from one generation to the next. What began as a traditional occupation within our household has grown into a professionally managed enterprise, while still preserving the soul of handmade artistry with excellent carving specialist . With our own production unit, every piece is crafted under close supervision, ensuring consistency, authenticity, and attention to detail at every stage.

OUR MISSION

Our mission is to preserve and promote the timeless art of handmade wooden handicrafts while adapting it to modern lifestyles and global tastes. We strive to support traditional artisans, sustain age old techniques, and transform natural wood into functional and decorative pieces that tell a story of culture, patience, and skill. Our vision is to revive and celebrate traditional craftsmanship, ensuring it continues to thrive in a fast changing world. We aim to take the beauty of Indian wooden handicrafts to homes across the globe, making cultural heritage relevant, appreciated, and accessible for present and future generations.

OUR COMMITMENT

We are deeply committed to delivering traditional quality without compromise. From sourcing wood responsibly to hand-finishing each product, we ensure that every item reflects durability, authenticity, and artistic excellence. Our commitment is to make handcrafted wooden products available to all—while maintaining ethical practices, fair craftsmanship, and long-lasting value.

A Hindu deity statue, likely Lord Venkateswara, is the central focus, seated within an ornate wooden shrine. The shrine is intricately carved with floral and geometric patterns. The statue is adorned with a golden crown, necklaces, and a red shawl. The background is a soft, warm glow, and the foreground is filled with offerings of yellow and red flowers, along with lit oil lamps (diyas) in brass holders. The overall atmosphere is one of reverence and devotion.
